I had my baby in 2004 and spent a lot of time looking for his baby book. There are so many to choose from but I found the majority of them to be impractical to write in and very commercial, often even tacky. "My Baby's Journal" has beautiful images of babies and related items in all different pale shades.

Infant jaundice is yellow discoloration of a newborn baby's skin and eyes. Infant jaundice occurs because the baby's blood contains an excess of bilirubin (bil-ih-ROO-bin), a yellow pigment of red blood cells. Infant jaundice is a common condition, particularly in babies born before 38 weeks' gestation (preterm babies) and some breast-fed babies.

Yellow eyes can also be a signal that your baby has sickle cell anemia, a disease more common in African-American babies where the red blood cells are rigid and crescent-shaped. It could also be a sign of Hepatitis. Both diseases show up a few months after the typical jaundice period, so you should keep an eye out for the signs for a while.
